

QUINCY H. HALE ENTERS RACE FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Member of Law Firm of Cowie and Hale Announces Candidacy in Fall Primary

YOUNGEST LAWYER ADMITTED TO THE U. S. SUPREME COURT

Played Prominent Part in Clearing up Biesen Murder Mystery

QUINCY H. Hale is the latest entrant into the race for nomination for the office of district attorney at the fall primaries. Mr. Hale on Thursday formally announced his candidacy.

In his three years of residence in this city Mr. Hale has taken an active part in the affairs of the community. Chief among his accomplishments has been the counsel which he has given those persons who sought to clear up the mysterious death of Nick Biesen, Brinkman's Ridge farmer and bring to justice those responsible for his death.

For a time it appeared as though Biesen had taken his own life. However there were those living in the vicinity of the Biesen home who believed he had met with foul play. As a result of Mr. Hale's advice and counseling, those interested in the case were enabled to bring officers to La Crosse county who ran down the few clues available that ended in John Bier, farmhand, confessing to the slaying and receiving a life sentence in Wausau, and Mrs. Nick Biesen being given a two-year sentence on a safety charge.

Mr. Hale, whose home was in Spring Valley, Minn., was graduated from the law department of the University of Minnesota in 1915 and from the University of Minnesota law school in 1918. After his discharge from the army, Mr. Hale came to La Crosse and in March, 1919, entered the employ of the law firm of Hartwell and Cowie. In June, the same year, Mr. Hale formed a partnership with R. S. Cowie, which has continued ever since.

Mr. Hale is one of the youngest attorneys admitted to practice before the state supreme court of Wisconsin and the United States supreme court.

VAGRANCY CHARGES
IN DOLLY QUINN'S
CASE ARE DROPPED

The charge of vagrancy made by the police in county court against Sally Nelson, alias Dolly Quinn, was dismissed Wednesday by Judge
Bradley on motion of A. C. Wolfe, Miss Quinn's lawyer. The case had been postponed several times and was to have been postponed again because of the absence from the city of District Attorney Rehl.

SENIOR CLASS AT NORMAL PLANNING FOR PLAY MONDAY

"A Prince There Was" to be Presented at Local School
by Students

After two weeks of daily rehearsal, "A Prince There Was," the play to be given by the Senior class of the La Crosse Normal school on next Monday evening, is rapidly nearing completion.

Dramatized by George M. Cohan from the novel "Enchanted Hearts," by Mrs. Darragh Aldrich, a St. Paul, Minnesota woman, the play was originally produced with great success on the stage about five years ago and has only recently been seen here on the screen, with Thomas Meighan in the title role.

The play deals with the adventures of a rich young idler who, at the appeal of a little orphan girl, leaves his life of ease and goes to live at a cheap New York boarding house in a chivalrous effort to help a struggling young authoress win fame and fortune. At the boarding house he comes in contact with the numerous amusing characters usually typical of such a place, makes a gallant attempt to aid the authoress by purchasing some of her stories only to discover at the end that, in reality, she is a celebrated novelist who has come to live at this place in order to get the necessary atmosphere for her work. The heart interest is sustained throughout the play by the wonderful love of a friendless child for an older person, besides being intensely humorous.

The play carries with it a sound moral and a strong sympathetic appeal which has won it marked favor with audiences everywhere. It was only after considerable effort on the part of Mr. Calvin Downing, under whose direction the play is being staged, that it was secured for amateur production. It is worthy of note that this is only the second time "A Prince There Was" has ever been played by amateurs, the first presentation also being under the direction of Mr. Downing.

For the local production a strong cast has been selected from the ranks of the graduating class and a splendid production is assured. The class is being assisted by Miss Geraldine Leavelle of Winona, an eight year old child who plays the role of Comfort, the little girl.

Because of the enormous amount of furniture and properties that are used in this play, groups of students have been assigned the task of assembling this material.

Tickets for the play, which were placed on sale by the students several days ago, have met with a ready demand and all indications point to a capacity audience to greet the local players in their ambitious production.

A lot of people make the serious mistake of forgetting that it is necessary to have done something before it becomes advisable to employ a press agent.

FREE CHEST CLINIC WILL BE CONDUCTED IN LA CROSSE SOON

Examination to be Made at the Court House June
8 and 9

Advance preparations for the Free Chest Clinic which will be held in La Crosse indicate that many people throughout the county will take advantage of the coming opportunity for a thorough examination by a medical examiner who makes a specialty of lung trouble. The clinic will be conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association under the auspices of the local Anti-Tuberculosis Association and will be held at the Court House, Thursday and Friday, June 8 and 9. The hours will be from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.

"Know Your Lungs" will be the slogan of the clinic. The clinic is especially anxious to reach every person in the county who has been exposed to tuberculosis through continued contact with a living case of the disease. Members of families where there has been a death from tuberculosis or where some member is or has been, sick with the disease are urged to attend the clinic. Men, women and children who have been losing pep, weight and appetite, who have a cough the hangs on, or who have fever in the afternoon are also warned that these are danger signals of tuberculosis. Those who have any of these symptoms should be sure to be examined.

Among others who need attention are underweight and anemic children, ex-servicemen and those rejected in the draft because of tuberculosis, and persons who have had bronchitis, pleurisy, pneumonia and influenza and who have not completely recovered their health.

Patients are urged to register as early as possible on the days of the clinic, as it is often necessary to turn people in the draft because of tuberculosis, and persons who have had away many people at the end of the day, while sometimes there will not be enough examinations to keep the doctors busy in the morning. The clinic will be open at 8:30 each morning and examinations will begin at nine.

WHITE'S "SCANDALS" HAS GOOD RECORD

The newest edition of George White's "Scandals" is to be seen at the La Crosse theater Monday night, June 5th. Despite the fact that this is Mr. White's third consecutive success, none of them have ever been presented in this city under his personal direction. He is coming here following long runs in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago with the original cast and famous Broadway beauties. In addition to Ann Pennington and Mr. White himself, the long list of players will include Lou Holtz, Charles Howard, Maxie and George, the world's greatest dancers, Olive Vaughan, George Hibel, Victoria Herbert, Wade Booth, James Miller, Sam Lechner, Edwin McGrath, Helen LeVonne, Jocelyn Leigh, Ruth Savoy, Peggy Nolan, Myra Callen, Barry Wellford, Evelyn Conway, Helen Cox, Mae Morris, Edna Lindsay, Catherine Chapman, Peggy Smith, Lillian Mitchell, Viola Charns.

Genevieve Barneth, Anna Buckley and numerous others.

Sufficient Unto the Day
The subject given them being the future, one schoolboy wrote: "We are told not to be anxious about the future, as the future will come in time." Another youngster cogitated this gem: "We are taught in the sermon on the Mount not to think of the future, because the evil we do in our day is sufficient."—Boston Transcript.

The 44 Conference

THE Forty-four conference is at hand. To it, by popular consent of what appears to be a majority, has been entrusted the welfare of Wisconsin insofar as government makes or unmakes the public weal. The ability of the Forty-four committee to discharge the trust will be put to the test in the conference. By its resolutions and its endorsements it will have retained or lost the confidence of the public.

This state has gone from an old bossism of selfish conservatism to a new bossism of selfish radicalism. The former had limited the benefits of republican government, the latter threatens to destroy it altogether. Just as in "the good old days" strong sentiment against reactionary bossism arose to destroy the old bosses, so today public sentiment has risen against the radical bossism of hate and envy, and if given capable leadership, will destroy it.

Throughout the state the great level of normal people—the kind willing to live and let live—have become weary of hearing that a dollar and a half in a man's pants pocket stamps him as a crook—unless forsooth the Goddess of Liberty on the dollar wears her hair pompadour.

Republicans have grown tired of seeing Wisconsin republican delegations enter national conventions handcuffed to a boss's hopeless ambition to be president, cheer a minority report, and come away empty handed.

Young republicans resent the spectacle of all good political posts going to old henchmen of a boss, even though he must seek them outside the state "From Labrador to Guadaloupe."

Pretty much everybody is about through watching the boss. The father of the primary carry a handful of little bosses into a back room from which later they would emerge having in their vest pockets everything the primary is supposed to distribute at the mandate of the ballot.

It appears that on the whole the people of Wisconsin think it is about time for a new deal. But the people know the game. They will know who shuffles the deck. They will insist on cutting the cards. They will watch the deal.

And for very substantial reasons. There has been a lot of foolish talk going the rounds. Some of it is said to have emanated from the headquarters of the Forty-four committee. Former Senator Bosshard is chairman. Senator Skogmo is secretary. Both are progressive republicans. They are able men. They possess the confidence of the state. They are politically experienced. One does not suspect them of saying political silly things, or of under estimating the task before them. It is because of who they are, more than anything else that the Forty-four conference has won prestige. But

"A lot of things and weather
Must be taken in together
To make up a year and a sphere."

Many elements are gathered together in any great political organization, and among them is bound to be a little bad weather. Keeping all in hand, with sound philosophy and the better judgment upmost, is a difficult task. And so it is that currency is given such foolish statements as the following:

"Anybody can beat Blaine."
One hears it everywhere. It isn't true. It isn't even true that it is desirable to have "anybody" beat Governor Blaine. If we can't beat Governor Blaine with a better man, there is no reason for beating him. When any group of politicians gets to thinking that "anybody" can win, some of its members are pretty certain to lift their ears from the ground and begin figuring what and whom they, themselves, want. And the moment any political organization substitutes what some of its individuals want for the real question of whom and what the people want, it is on the road to defeat.

Men are mentioned for governor who have no chance and scant desserts. Perhaps none of them can be classed as ignorant, or even small. But some of them are of the subservient type, and a number of them have no qualifications great enough to offset the inexperience of their candidacies. From good to bad, gossip deals with the whole run of men one would expect to hear "mentioned" when the thought has gone over the state that "anybody can beat Blaine."

And then—the senatorship.
The conference has no right to make an endorsement for this post unless it can give to the state a candidate who would be formidable because of what he is and what he stands for. Probably no more than two such men are known to the public life of Wisconsin. Neither has tossed a dauntless sombrero into the ring. The reason is not far to seek. They know that when robust manhood thunders at gray hairs it wins nothing but the jeers of the crowd and usually succeeds making itself ridiculous. Unknown men—we forbear the aphorism—throw themselves upon the altar, willing sacrifices. But such goats would not be acceptable burnt offerings to the god of political wisdom. The Forty-four conference dare not consider them. Nothing less than one of Wisconsin's greatest sons will do, and failing that, the conference will win no respect from the people of Wisconsin by gratuitously holding a fire sale to dispose of the toga.

If one may indulge in a final thought regarding the conference, it might well be pointed out that Gifford Pinchot and Albert J. Beveridge have told the story of 1922. The country demands a progressive but not radical republicanism. It is Americanism—a sane conception of the state—that they desire. Neither a New or a New's man, can win in Wisconsin this year any more than in Indiana. And when a "bull moose" defeats a reactionary in Pennsylvania, of all places, well—"and George III may profit by their example!"

Possible

SCIENTISTS predict radio movies. The next step after that may be wireless newspapers.

Our descendants, instead of reading type to get the news, may have wireless apparatuses that will reproduce movie films and phonographic records of the day's leading events. Sitting at home with your radio and seeing a prizefight as fast as it took place, and hearing the gong and the spectators' cheers, would "have it all over" reading a modern newspaper extra.

The great newspaper men of the future will be the wireless operators. This seems impossible now, perhaps, but no more so than a modern newspaper would have seemed to the Chinese who invented printing thousands of years ago.

When a man isn't sure of himself, that makes it unanimous.

The Lack

By MARTHA MCILLOCH-WILLIAMS

If you know the thing you want, there's always the chance of getting it by hook or crook or odd chance. But if you do not know—well, there is quite another story, as Squire Jim Lewis, poor gentleman, was to prove. He did not lack either possession or occupation. Contrariwise, he suffered an embarrassment of riches—a big farm, full-stocked with the best of everything that walked, wallowed, flew and ate, a fine substantial house crum-full of plenishing as fine, a good name, money in bank and expectations. There did seem nothing left a reasonable man to sigh for.

Yet—there was. Just what, he did not know, acutely as he was conscious of a dull ache in his head. Aunt Keziah, who kept house for him, said shrewdly she didn't know what Jimmy needed worse than a wife or religion. Religion would be safest—you could always backslide if the collar galled—and there you were. Divorcees cost money, besides, folks remembered them so long. Worst risk, though, was of things not going that far. Squire Jimmy tied up with a woman and a child, money in bank, eat by the books, cold bread and health-ruck for breakfast—and no pie whatever, no time at all to be his own.

It galled Jimmy, even grieved him, this puzzle with no answer. The answer was not a woman—that was the surest thing he knew. Nevertheless, he was a woman-hater, vague respect for the whole sex—so vast and vague, he could not define it.

Ah, what this bewilderment flashed, rainbow wise, a human rainbow, by name Lyle Grayson. Not in any safe, conventional way, either, but by the and a perfectly beautiful young man—and a perfectly beautiful young man—so beautifully perfect, he set by the place, packing a glass shade for protection. Titularly he was driving, but the girl beside him had evidently been doing the real work. She was smug, one bare wrist deeply scratched, her eyes pools of adoration mixed with concern. She had said to him a few days ago, "You're the first words. Need of it was too clear to require explanation. 'Come here and make this car go through your red mud,' she said, and demanded, 'It's new to us, we're strangers, you know.'"

"Honey-mooners," the squire was somewhat loath to answer. The girl smiled deliciously, saying with frank pleasure, "You're the first words. Need of it was too clear to require explanation. 'Come here and make this car go through your red mud,' she said, and demanded, 'It's new to us, we're strangers, you know.'"

"Never mind about that—the thing is to get through it—somehow," the girl said, impatiently. "We are quite sure of it, after my dance—never tried to close nor run a car until this morning."

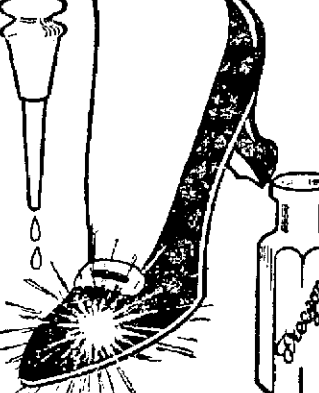

"He ought to be named for wadin' in red mud," Squire Jim commented. "I won't let him," Lyle said sweetly. "He hasn't any other clothes along—your car, I think he wants to be married looking like a bad carrier."

"Wouldn't care how I looked—if I got my girl," Squire Jim countered. "This girl has melted things inside—he had lost the sense of reality—life was no longer soles, but a thing with high adventure. He was in mud half-deep, in spite of wearing his second best suit. But that didn't matter—nothing mattered except to hear further that bewitching voice. It said: 'Oh, thank you so much! as I stood to see the full depth and stiffness of the mud, 'Lightening leads the only chance,' he said, looking up. 'Hand out your traps—I'll take 'em to dry land—then come back for you.'"

"Oh, we can never get out of the car," Lyle explained in dismay. "At least I can't—have to drive, you know. But if you think you can manage with Arthur—not let him fall—there she stood, perforce, the squire had somehow yanked her from her seat, and was carrying her over to firm roadside. As he sat her down he said matterfully over his shoulder: "Arthur, be ready—long time I reckon since you rode pick-a-back." Arthur rose up, out-blushing the reddest rose, made as though to plunge in the mud, but stopped short at his sweetheart's cry. "If you do that all is off between us."

"So there was excuse for the ride he took, wishing the while he might strangely absconded. But as Lyle touched earth a new terror beset him—over the hedge, hair flying, hat away, burst a tall, masculine woman, her eyes stormy, but her cheeks stained with tears. She had seen the transfer of Arthur. Instantly she clutched him, crying loudly: "Thank God, I turned back, finding you had not reached the minister. Heaven guided me across fields to find and save you."

"Here, I want the straight of this!" Squire Jim demanded. Holding Arthur tight, the newcomer answered: "The straight is—merely that I am saving my son from an adventures. She ran off with him in her car this morning. By help of providence I have found her. My boy is under age. She shall not ruin his life. I had rather see him dead than her husband. You are, I suppose, her tool."

"Not so you'd notice it," was the retort. "Never saw either of the two all half an hour back. But I'm a judge of small matters, she's nodding at Lyle, 'is the lucky one. Can't think how she ever took a shine to Arthur—unless she's so young she still hankers after toys." Arthur tried to spring at the squire's throat—mad, mad mamma restraining her. "We will not say here to bandy words with a ruffian. Come, my son—I left the car a little way back on the main road. I do hope you're nothing of value in that car," glancing scornfully at the stalled roadster. "We will not, however, stop to investigate—though you should have lost your purse."

"I have the license—if that's what you're so concerned about," Lyle said, springing to her feet. She had crunched, covering upon the grass-bank—new back Arthur, mule but back, entrancing eyes. He could not meet their gaze—turning, he muttered something that sounded like: "We must wait! then went dutifully along with his natural protector. Lyle watched them disappear, the entirely dying slowly from her glance, and they had vanished she turned to Squire Jim, trying to laugh and speak sanely—but broke down utterly and flung herself prone upon the grass, her body shaken pitifully with hard, dry sobs. He let her be for five minutes, busy-ing himself the while with the car. Finally, he managed to drive it clear and halt it some little way beyond its owner.

She sat up at the sound of it, her face burning, and said breathlessly:

HARDING STANDS BY DAUGHERTY THROUGH NEW HOUSE ATTACK

Ex-Service Men Declare Prosecution of War Grafters Perfunctory

RESOLUTION FOR INQUIRY IS SLATED FOR DEATH

Rules Committee to Reconsider Favorable Action

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The house rules committee by a vote of 7 to 4 Thursday rescinded its action in giving privileged status to the Woodruff-Johnson resolution for investigation of alleged laxity of government prosecution of war fraud cases.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Blocked again in their demand for congressional investigation of the failure of the department of justice to jail war grafters, ex-service men in the house let loose a new blast against Attorney General Daugherty Wednesday, warning the country "to expect nothing from his campaign of prosecution."

In a statement signed by Captain H. J. Seale, and issued from the office of Representative Woodruff, Michigan, it was charged that the lawyers retained by Mr. Daugherty to conduct the proposed campaign of prosecution have been "parties to perfunctory investigations and have shown their willingness to let the grafters to escape."

Captain Seale was recently dismissed as a war fraud investigator in the department of justice for furnishing information to Representative Johnson, South Dakota.

President Stands by Him

Since the persistent agitation against the attorney general, there has been much speculation as to the attitude of President Harding toward him, and assurances have come from authoritative sources that the president will not think of asking Mr. Daugherty to resign, nor will he permit him to resign. Mr. Daugherty, it is declared, moreover, has no thought of resigning. The president, it is declared, has full confidence in his honesty and integrity, regards his connection with the Morse case as above suspicion, and proposes to stand by him through the storm that is raging both within and without the republican party.

Representative Johnson made another ineffectual attempt Wednesday to force action on the resolution creating a select committee to investigate Attorney General Daugherty's laxity in prosecuting those who defrauded the government during the war.

As soon as the house convened, Representative McNeill, Wyoming, republican leader, who is opposing the investigation moved to adjourn, refusing to permit Mr. Johnson to call up the resolution. Mr. Johnson demanded a vote, but was beaten 101 to 85, and the house adjourned.

Rules Committee to Decide

The rules committee was to meet Thursday presumably to take action to kill off the Johnson-Woodruff resolution. Some time ago, before administration opposition developed to such proportions, the committee voted 6 to 5 to favorably report the resolution, but its chairman, Representative Campbell, Kansas, has been carrying the measure around in his pocket refusing to report it.

It is understood that a sufficient number of republican members have been lined in the committee to vote a reconsideration of the favorable action, and if reconsideration is decided upon, Johnson and Woodruff will have to find new methods of forcing the investigation.

Watson Attacks Daugherty

Another development in the campaign against Mr. Daugherty was a new attack by Senator Watson, Georgia, democrat. He declared that if the charges which he and others have made against the attorney general are true, Mr. Daugherty should be impeached at once.

NEVADA COURT RULING REMOVES SHADOW FROM FAIRBANKS-PICKFORD MARRIAGE

FAIRBANKS

CARSON CITY, Nev.—Mary Pickford's divorce from Owen Moore, validated here Wednesday when the state supreme court ruled the attorney general had not the power to institute and maintain an annulment action, had removed the legal shadow which was cast over the film star's marriage to Douglas Fairbanks, shadowland's agile actor, who claimed her as his wife one month after she obtained a decree of divorce at Minden, Nev., in 1920.

Mary Pickford was granted a divorce from Owen Moore March 2, 1920, at Minden, a small Nevada town.

She had lived incognito at a nearby ranch since Feb. 15. After the divorce she returned to the ranch. It was publicly stated that she was seeking a quiet place to live and would make the state her permanent home.

Moore was served with the divorce papers while he was in Nevada, ostensibly on movie business.

Douglas Fairbanks had been divorced by Mrs. Fairbanks in 1918. Twenty-eight days after the Pickford-Moore divorce, Mary and Fairbanks were married at Los Angeles.

On April 16, a 7600-word complaint was filed by Leonard B. Fowler, attorney general of Nevada, asking that the decree be set aside. Fowler's complaint alleged collusion and fraud in serving Moore with the divorce papers and obtaining the divorce.

Golf

Golf is a game of pool played in a cow pasture instead of on a table. It consists in placing a white pill on an ant hill and then seeing how far one can knock said pill with a club. After having driven the pill a mile, more or less, the next hour is spent in trying to find it. When found, it is dropped in a hole and then the performance is repeated 17 times with 17 or so more pills.—Standard Player Magazine.

MRS. EMMA TESTER PLEASES AUDIENCE AT PIONEER HALL

Soprano Singer from Germany Scores Big on Wednesday Night

Mrs. Emma Tester, soprano, of Stuttgart, Germany, gave a very successful concert on Wednesday evening at Pioneer Hall under the auspices of the Salzer Memorial church. Mrs. Tester has a voice which combines a strength and volume often too great for the size of the hall with a beautiful clear sweetness of quality and she uses it with conscious ease and skill. Her manner was gracious and friendly and she responded to the appreciative applause of her audience with generous encores.

The aria from the Messiah seemed to disclose Mrs. Tester's gifts at their best. To the imperishable beauty of the Schubert songs she did full justice. The controlled sweetness of her voice in the more delicate little songs was delightful. For the most part, however, her singing was marked with a fresh vigor, a vitality which made one long to hear her supported by a good chorus.

Two old, well-loved folksongs chosen by Mrs. Tester for encores and sung with tender understanding won the hearts of those who might otherwise have only admired this singer. Her entire program with a single exception was sung in German with a careful enunciation which made it intelligible even to one whose knowledge of the language is scanty. This lack of knowledge carried one disadvantage, however, since it made impossible full appreciation of the humorous songs so much enjoyed by the major portion of the audience. One needs to know a language very familiarly to appreciate its jokes. Mr. D. C. Hoffa, who was Mrs. Tester's accompanist, child was Mrs. JOSTEN.

Hens in Trouble
Lucile was sent to a neighbor to get some eggs. The neighbor informed her that the hens were molting, and she could not let her have any. When she reached home Lucile said: "Mamma, Mrs. T. can't let us have any eggs because her hens are molting." —La Crosse Weekly Review.

Waltham Watches and Clocks

THE SCIENTIFICALLY BUILT WATCH

Waltham Colonial "A"
Cat. No. 164. Washington carved green gold case
Raised gold figure dial
Price $25.00

What Refinement Means in a Waltham Watch

A Waltham Watch today is the result of doing one thing supremely well for seventy years.

From the first Waltham Watch to this masterful, lovely model (The Colonial "A" No. 164 Washington) the great Waltham organization has been refining the product.

That means making the Waltham movement supreme in dependability and unexcelled in time-telling for a life-time.

This is what we mean by "Refinement." It goes deeper than the case. It is older than today. It is that "something" which is not included in the price, but makes this grand watch worthy of your desire and decision to own it and none other.

Cut out this advertisement. Ask your jeweler to show you the watch it describes. He knows what a great watch it really is.

Write for a valuable booklet that is a liberal "Watch" education. Sent free upon request. The Waltham Watch Company, Crescent Street, Waltham, Mass.

OPPOSITION TO LA FOLLETTE RESULTED IN ORGANIZATION OF STATE COMMITTEE OF 44

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—The Citizens' Republican conference which met here Thursday to select a slate of nominees to enter the September general election primaries, is a culmination of the work of the committee of Forty-four.

This committee, composed of four delegates from each of the eleven Wisconsin congressional districts, had its inception at a gathering of republican political leaders, including Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, opposed to the political faction within the party led by Senator Robert M. La Follette.

The leaders met at the time of the State Fair here in September, 1921, and determined to build up an organization which would serve as machinery for selecting candidates and formulating a platform for the Wisconsin primaries of September, 1922. They agreed to call a conference of two women and two men from each congressional district to meet in Milwaukee, October 26.

At that meeting, a permanent organization was made with former State Senator Otto Bosshard as chairman of the Committee of Forty-four and State Senator George B. Skogmo as secretary. A declaration of principles was made and plans laid for the convention which meets today.

County conferences were held in all counties of the state May 10, to choose the 998 delegates and alternates who represent these districts in the present state conference. These delegates compose the convention which today will decide upon candidates to enter the primaries three months from now, and formulate the platform on which they will stand.

On recommendation of the Committee of Forty-four, county delegations came untroubled to the convention, free to vote for whoever they regarded as the strongest man for each position on the state ticket.

In its statement to the people of the state, the Committee said that "The Citizens' Republican state conference as the movement of the constructive progressives against ultra-radicalism is known, was initiated by the republican party and will go forward under its banner," and outlined the following principles:

"That it is the first duty of American citizenship to champion and defend the American system of constitutional government, as the most enlightened, just and progressive system of self-government.

"That all class appeal, all demand for special privileges or favoritism for classes or individuals in politics or government, and all schemes for class or group or individual domination of the people, whether under the names of socialism, bolshevism, communism or whatever names, constitute a menace to the future of this country.

"That there should be frank acknowledgment that inequalities and injustices exist affecting the economic, social and political welfare of the people, and determination that the citizens, not as a self-serving group or class, should take measures to understand and eradicate the causes of just criticism and discontent by active, intelligent and effective participation in politics and government.

"That the republican party in Wisconsin is and should be overwhelmingly and constructively progressive; that autocracy in party is as vicious as autocracy in government; that the great body of electors constituting the party can and should, without dictation, determine its policies and select its leadership, which shall be answerable to the party for the faithful execution of its determined policies."

CAMPAIGN FOR STATE TOBACCO POOL MEETS WITH GOOD SUCCESS

Growers Eager to Sign up for New Co-operative Marketing Plan

MADISON, Wis.—On the heels of the news of the successful tobacco pool drive in Vernon county comes the announcement that at the Rockdale, Dane county, meeting held Monday night, 103 tobacco growers of the 106 present signed contracts and joined the pool. At other meetings held on the same day at London, Deerfield and Cambridge the sentiment was strongly in favor of the organization. At London growers representing seventy-five per cent of the acreage were present. Meetings will be held on June 1 at Urica, Albion, Stoughton, and Hamorville and on June 2 at Lodi, Dane, Springfield, Corners, Waukegan, and Norway Grove.

The first reports of the campaign in Columbia county indicate that the latter is going over the top. The drive in that county is finishing tomorrow and it will be followed by a campaign in Rock county which starts on June 7.

The success which has attended the tobacco pool campaign so far is very encouraging and it shows in the opinion of L. G. Foster, deputy commissioner of markets, that chances are strongly in favor of this first and biggest undertaking in the field of organized tobacco marketing in Wisconsin.

Included in the Thursday morning session were talks on "The Hospital Laboratory," and "The Hospital Dietician" by Dr. T. B. McGath, of the Mayo clinic at Rochester, and Abby L. Marlatt, director in course of home economics at the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Siverson also led a discussion. The morning session was followed by a business meeting.

A round table discussion on general hospital problems was scheduled for the closing session Thursday afternoon. The discussion was to be conducted by Mr. Asa Bacon, president-elect of the American hospital association, and superintendent of the Presbyterian hospital in Chicago. A talk on hospital architecture by Richard E. Schmidt, Chicago, followed the round table discussion.

Following the closing business session the delegates to the convention were to make an automobile tour of the city and surrounding country.

NEW YORK HAPPY AS CANADA HALTS GREAT LAKES CANAL

Spend the Money on New York Harbor and Other Waters, Says Calder

WASHINGTON, W. C.—Senator William M. Calder (N. Y.) who opposes the great lakes-St. Lawrence canal, expressed himself Wednesday as pleased by the announcement of Premier Mackenzie King that the present is not an opportune time to negotiate a treaty with Canada for the construction of the canal. He stated his belief that this means nothing will be done in that direction during the life of the Mackenzie King administration.

Gives Credit to Agitation
"Evidently the agitation against the project in this country has had some influence on official Canada," said Senator Calder. "I said in the senate some time ago that we should not commit our taxpayers to a big expenditure of money to improve a waterway over which we cannot exercise sovereignty. I understand that many Canadians are thinking along the same lines. They believe if they have a waterway they ought to control it, and if they control it they ought to finance it."

"It would not be the part of wisdom," continued the senator, "to adopt a policy which might cause some irritation between Canada and any important section of the United States. There is always an element of danger in international partnerships which involve the expenditure of big sums of money."

Wants N. Y. Harbor Improved
Senator Calder said the United States should develop her waterways and improve her harbors as effectively and as quickly as possible. The great harbor of New York should be given early and generous treatment and the waterways of the west and south should be taken care of as rapidly as they are demonstrated to be useful, providing the money is available. He would make generous provision for needed improvements in Buffalo and other towns bordering on Lake Erie.

"The whole St. Lawrence scheme was a grave mistake," he said.

FRAMING OF A PLAT-FORM FIRST TASK

Ray, W. T. Doan, New Richmond, and T. W. Anderson, Medford.

This group retiring at once to undertake its work. Delegates having resolutions were informed that their resolutions would be referred to this committee.

Appointment of a committee on permanent organization of the citizens' republican state conference followed, with the following named by the chairman:

Arthur Barry, chairman; Milwaukee; Lawrence Whitte, Edgerton; Paul Barclay, Port Arkison; W. H. Doyle, Platteville; Walter Drew, Milwaukee; John C. Thompson, Oshkosh; E. M. Doh, Baraboo; King Weeman, Shawano; Mrs. A. V. Lundgren, Marinette; H. T. Lange, Eau Claire; and Mrs. B. R. Lewis, Rhineland.

Planks of the proposed platform already drawn by delegates and which will be submitted to the committee of resolutions for action, were drawn Thursday morning.

Fight Noons on Dry Plank
The one issue on which leaders anticipate a floor battle, that of prohibition, has been dealt with in a proposed plank by a declaration for law enforcement, with support of the constitution and all its amendments by all necessary laws.

Members who drew this plank say that it is a compromise between the demand of dries for a declaration against modification of the Volstead law and the demand of wets for a declaration in favor of return of beer and wine.

The committee on resolutions has not acted as yet on this issue which is foremost before the convention.

Another plank to be submitted to the committee calls for extension of farm credits, co-operative marketing and more money for rural schools.

Favor Soldier Bonus
Support of the soldiers' bonus is pledged in another plank. Change of the Wisconsin primary law in such manner as to enforce party lines in voting is called for in a further proposal.

Other planks demand economy, lowering of taxes and praise the administration of President Harding. Radicalism is denounced in one plank.

Report of the resolutions committee is not expected before late afternoon. Permanent organization of the Wisconsin Citizens' Republican State Conference was made by delegates following report of the committee on organization.

Form New Party
The new political body created by the action of the meeting provides for membership of all electors of the state who subscribe to principles of the association.

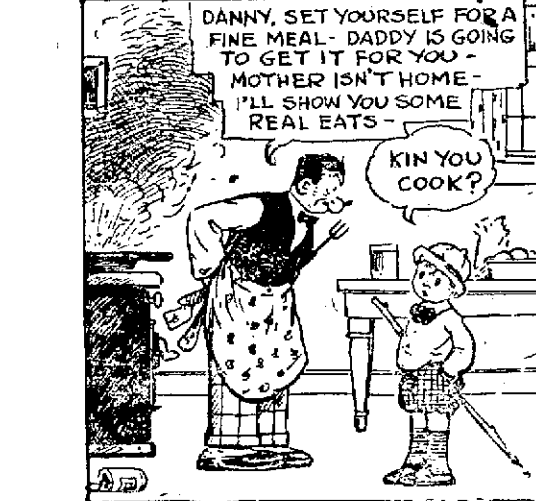

A state council made up of forty-four members, four from each congressional district, will have management of the business affairs of the association.

County divisions are to be created whenever fifty or more members make application for a charter. These divisions will hold conventions to choose delegates to a state conference which will nominate state officers to enter general election campaigns.

Adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock, after the permanent organization was completed.

Interest in Governor Race
Selection of a candidate for governor is proving the principal interest at the conference. In this contest Attorney General William J. Morgan had an early start, but is meeting increased opposition from former Senator Roy P. Wilcox of Eau Claire. E. F. Dittmar, former lieutenant governor, nor, is active in the race for the nomination of the conference as head of the state ticket as is Andrew Kreutzler, former state senator from Wausau.

The Morgan-Wilcox division was growing Thursday with friends of both working actively in their interest. Talk of a possible deadlock is general among the politicians here, who say that should neither of these candidates be nominated on the first few ballots, a "dark horse" nomination would probably result. Andrew Kreutzler is named in this connection.

Johnson for Treasurer
Henry Johnson, state treasurer for five terms, Wednesday night announced that he was seeking renomination and was not interested in the contest for governor. He had been mentioned as a formidable candidate for the head of the state ticket. Alexander Matheson, assemblyman from Rock county, told the delegation from his district last night that he would refuse to have his name brought before the convention for governor after he was informed that a move was under way to nominate him to decide the vote for other contestants.

In the contest for United States senator at the head of the full ticket there was less activity among the candidates. In this connection George McKerron, president of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, is prominently mentioned. Leatham Smith, Sturgeon Bay, and W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, are active in the race for the senate with a big following among delegates.

Keeping It Dark
"Go right back and tell your boss," roared a squire in a New England town, "that he's a blinked fool and that he's to come here right away and fix up that carpentering job and fix it right."

The apprentice vanished, and a few minutes later the boss carpenter appeared, aching for a fight. "Do I understand," he bellowed, "that you told my apprentice that I was a blinked fool?"

"Why, yes," replied the squire, beaming. "Didn't you want him to know it?"—American Legion Weekly.

Dull Days
A Red Cap at the Exchange street station was bemoaning the fact that he was unable to get action for his money.

"I went over there and they wasn't any stud game; they wasn't any crap game, they wasn't nothing."

"Boy," remarked one of his fellows, "that's a sign of the times."

NOT QUITE PERFECT

A certain dowager who was compelled to economize in her manner, discharged the butler, who had been with her for a long time, giving him an excellent reference. A few days later a lady to whom he had applied for letter for a position, wrote the dowager, asking rather bluntly, "Was he courteous, gentlemanly, thoughtful, honest and of distinguished appearance?" To which she replied:

"The Dowager Lady Blank wishes to say that if her butler possessed half the virtues enumerated she would have married him herself years ago."

UPHOLD DECISION BARRING SALE OF LAND CONTRACTS

Ruling Sustains Real Estate Board's Order Against U. S. Realty Company

MADISON, Wis.—The decision of the Wisconsin Real Estate Board's board barring the sale in Wisconsin of the so-called land contracts of the U. S. Realty company, a Minnesota corporation, is sustained, in a decision which has been handed down by Judge E. Ray Stevens of the Dane county circuit court.

The decision is rendered on the request for a review by the circuit court of the decision of the board of real estate brokers because of the knowledge of the board that he intended to sell U. S. Realty contracts if granted a real estate broker's license. The question before the court rested solely on the U. S. Realty company contract and the board attached to its decision a memorandum in which it was stated that the contract of the U. S. Realty company is untrustworthy to act as a real estate broker.

The court then upholds the contention of the real estate board that the contracts offered for sale by the U. S. Realty company are untrustworthy and are therefore void. The court also holds that the contracts are untrustworthy to act as a real estate broker.

Whether there will be an appeal to the Supreme court by Roger Jones from the decision of the circuit court cannot yet be said.

Careless Shampooing
Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soap and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

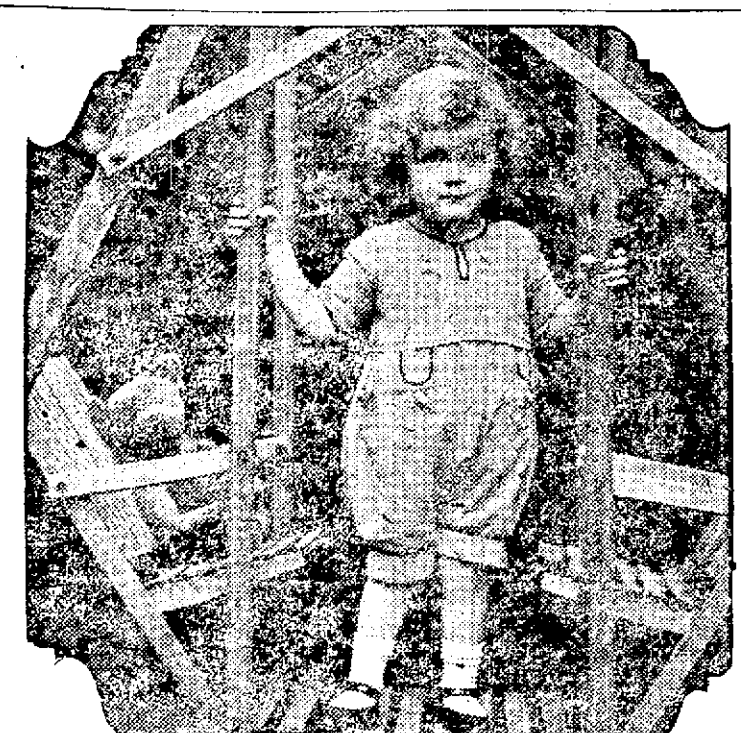

The best thing for steady use is Mulford's coconut oil shampoo, which is pure and gentle, and is better than anything else you can use.

Use of three teaspoons of Mulford's coconut oil with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply lather the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which penetrates easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulford's coconut oil shampoo at any drugstore. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply your family for weeks. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulford's.

A MITCHELL WHITE STREAK IS COMING

AS BABY GROWS OLDER KEEP WATCH ON HIS FOOD

"I'VE EATEN PROPER FOODS AND I'M FEELING FINE!"

By MRS. MAX WEST
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

Although illness of every sort is far more serious to the younger babies, older babies do suffer from serious attacks of diarrhea, especially in summer. For the most part, these result from mistakes in feeding at about the weaning period. As the child begins to eat solid foods, after an exclusive milk diet, mothers are very prone to hasten matters too fast.

They like to have the baby come to the table, and eat what the family has. In this way, a baby often is given foods which are not suited to his digestion, and those which are really harmful to him. Probably some of the frequent sources of digestive upsets in these older children are the summer fruits, either those which are over-ripe or under-ripe.

But whatever the cause, the mother should be on her guard, if the baby begins to fret and show signs of indigestion.

The treatment of a severe case of diarrhea with vomiting and fever should always be directed by a physician if one can be had. In the meantime, castor oil may be given. Give two teaspoonfuls in lemonade or orange juice. Never give an offending medicine in milk or any common food, lest the child may thus be turned against it.

After the child is well, he should be kept quiet, and be given light foods for some time. It is very easy to induce a second attack of diarrhea in a child who has had one, and even though he demands all sorts of things, the wise mother will stick to milk, broths, thin gruels and the like for at least two weeks after an attack, especially if the weather is hot.

He should have a cool room, and a quiet life and should be kept in bed at least for some days. These illnesses are weakening, and the little patient needs the best possible opportunity to regain his full strength after going through such an ordeal.

Diarrhea can easily be prevented, certainly in very many cases. If every mother would keep a set of rules for proper feeding at hand, using those for each age, and would add to this care, much attention to keeping the baby cool, quiet and supplied with fresh air, day and night, she would have little to fear, even if her baby is artificially fed. For summer food, certified milk is one of her greatest safeguards.

NUMBER OF HANDS ON BADGER FARMS NEAR TOP MARK

MADISON, Wis.—The number of hired hands on farms increased 26 per cent during the last month, the state crop service reports. This brings the total number of farm workers to within eight per cent of the maximum in July, 1920.

There has been a steady increase in the farm workers from January of this year to the present time.

PRICES OF POTATOES AND FRUIT LOWER ON THE CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—Declines in the prices of fresh fruits and of potatoes were noted in the weekly market-gram of the U. S. Bureau Markets and Crop Estimates today. Northern sacked round whites were down from 10 to 15c per 100 pounds and were selling at $1.30 to $1.40 in Chicago. South Carolina Irish Cobbles dropped 75 cents per barrel in most markets and were selling at $1.50 to $5.50. Strawberry markets were slow and weak. New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland varieties were selling at 15 to 24c per quart in leading eastern markets.

Watermelons averaging 22 to 28 lbs. brought $300 to $550 bulk per car in leading markets. In Cincinnati the price per 100 millions was $40 to $55. Georgia peaches of various varieties brought from $2 to $3.00 in eastern markets and from $3.00 to $3.25 in Chicago.

The demand for tomatoes was heavy in New York, where the best sizes sold for $5.50 to $8.00.

4 Men in 7 Bald at 40 —Yet 95% Needlessly

THIS is to offer you, under a dollar, a complete money-back guarantee, the new Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage, which, under clinical tests, grew hair on 91 heads in 100. Records show 4 men in 7 are bald, or partially bald, at 40. But modern science proves only 5 men in 100 need ever be bald!

Baldness is not a disease. Note this fact and mark it. It is merely a symptom of infection. 95% of all hair troubles are traced to infected Sebium. Sebium is an oil that forms at the roots of the hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with life.

But it cures on the scalp. It forms a natural breeding place for bacteria. It clogs to hair and destroys it. It lodges in hair follicles and plugs them. Then germs by the millions start to feed upon the hair. Sebium-baldness soon is marked. Then comes total baldness.

You can see this Sebium on your scalp, in form of an oily excretion. Or, when dried, as dandruff. But it does not kill the roots. Hence when you remove it, new hair grows. This is scientific fact—medical authorities will tell you so. You must remove the infected Sebium.

This new method reaches the roots. It makes hair grow. We guarantee it. You take no chance of loss.

We guarantee to stop falling hair in three weeks. We guarantee to grow new hair with continued use. If we fail, your money back without question.

Note that your own druggist signs the guarantee. Thus you assume no risk. Go today to any druggist's. Obtain the Van Ess treatment. With it you will get our guarantee, signed by the druggist from whom you buy it. Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage, made by Van Ess Laboratories, 5907 Lake Park Ave., Chicago, Ill.

OLDFIELD TIRES

We Found What We Believed Tires and Tubes Should Be

The open driving season has borne out our claims about the values we offer in Oldfield Tires. Customers who have put these tires on their cars are reporting the kind of service and mileage we promised.

When we chose to handle Oldfields, we found they lived up to our ideas of what tires should be. Barney Oldfield's lifetime of experience and study had not been wasted. Oldfield construction both cord and fabric has demonstrated unmistakable superiority.

Oldfield Tubes, likewise have shown their superiority in the severest of all tests—the big racing classic, where Oldfield equipped cars invariably win.

You'll appreciate why we are so enthusiastic when you test Oldfield mileage and realize how low is the cost.

In The MOVIES

"WAY DOWN EAST"—RIVOLI

A feature of every production bearing the name of D. W. Griffith is the music and those who have seen his "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Hearts of the World," "Broken Blossoms" and "Way Down East" find that a real enjoyment from the large orchestra always present. Each situation is given the proper emphasis or shading by the character of music that is played and whether there is fortissimo or pianissimo makes the greatest difference in the world in the effect of the scene upon the entire spectator.

The Riverfront will play the same splendid scene as when "Way Down East" played here before. "Way Down East" will be the attraction at the Rivoli until Saturday.

ALICE BRADY—MAJESTIC

A baby that cries inopportunistically on the stage is not to be tolerated, which is one reason why little babies are not included in stage plays any more, and even "one plays" are careful to find "toys" that have reached the years of histrionic discretion and can be counted on to behave themselves.

But in the silent drama babies are much used, and because nobody has yet perfected a device which records sounds as well as actions, even crying infants cannot "break up the show," and if the infant is kept with the back of its downy head towards the camera, it may cry as lustily as it pleases and still look so real and adorable that every woman in the audience can be counted on to nurse him. "O-o-h! Isn't it darling!"

Such a baby appears in Alice Brady's latest picture, "Little Italy," now at the Majestic.

CASINO TODAY

Norma Talmadge in "The Safety Curtain" will be the attraction at the Casino theater today. Her leading man will be Eugene O'Brien, who was in support of Miss Talmadge when Selznick was raising the present favorite to screen stardom. Several of the photoplays in which Miss Talmadge first appeared are now being revived and "The Safety Curtain" is rated as the best of the lot. The story gets its start in a London music hall and its scenes pass in swift sequence to India, through vistas of English army life with sensational developments abounding.

STRAND TODAY

Joseph J. Dowling has been an actor on the stage and screen since 1881. His only "vacation" was a year of service in the Civil War as drummer boy. In pictures he has had many roles, creating the title role of "The Miracle Man" among others, and interpreting Zane Grey's "Pecos" though in "Pecos" he played the high water mark of his long career is reached in his collaboration of that unique character, "Uncle Pete Blues," in "The Spenders."

RIVIERA TODAY

The "Call of the Deep" is felt not only by the deep-sea mariner or the fresh water sailor who breasts the storms of the Great Lakes, but by each and every one of the "land lubbers" who has read of the romance connected with men who go down in ships. Therefore, the photoplay which has to do with a marine disaster and the welfare of the victims is bound to hold great appeal for movie fans. "The Beach of Dreams," at the Riviera theatre today a most vivid shipwreck is depicted and a wonderful story woven around the survivors. "The Beach of Dreams" was adapted to the screen by E. Richard Schayer from the story of the same name by H. de Vere Stacpoole. It is intensely dramatic, with a fair sprinkling of comedy relief.

RIVIERA FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Chester Bennett's big production, "Belle of Alaska," starring Jane Novak, contains a shipwreck scene taken in the ocean miles away from land that has a parallel only in the sinking of the great liner Titanic.

The gold-ship "Northland" leaves Seattle for the Klondike packed to the rails with prospectors and adventurers.

In the middle of a night, off the Alaskan coast, the "Northland" strikes an iceberg. Half-dressed, undressed passengers, mostly without life belts half dozed from sleep, engage in a mad fight for safety. Sinking slowly the steamer's searchlight plays on the surface of the sea, showing scores of passengers in the water, trying to climb on a life raft.

IN THE MORNING PAPERS

A Summary of the News

COURT INVESTIGATES OSER AS DESIRABLE MATE FOR MATHILDE

Father is Named Guardian But Mother Asks Injunction to Prevent Marriage

CHICAGO, Ill.—Judicial investigation of Max Oser's eligibility and qualifications as a husband for Mathilde McCormick is the next step in the international romance of John D. Rockefeller's 17-year-old granddaughter and the frienion between her parents.

Mathilde now has a guardian who is said to be ready to give his consent to her marriage to the Swiss horseman, who was her riding master during her girlhood days in the Alps. Her father, Harold P. McCormick, 41, vice president of the International Harvester company, was accepted by his divorced wife as a suitable guardian for their daughter, with one exception. The horseman of Zurich is the exception and Saturday Judge Horner of the probate court is expected to decide whether Max's 27 years seniority over the age of his prospective bride and his comparative poverty furnish sufficient grounds to grant an injunction restraining Mr. McCormick from giving his consent to the international marriage.

Fears Mercenary Motives

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Mathilde's mother, expressed the fear that there were mercenary motives in Max Oser's courtship of her daughter, who is heir to part of the Rockefeller millions as well as some of the McCormick wealth. The marriage, Mrs. McCormick said, might subject Mathilde to "the machinations and intrigues of designing persons."

The unusual, if not unprecedented situation of an injunction petition to prevent an international marriage of the Oser-McCormick sort will likely hold Mathilde's romance to a higher court, it was said Thursday. Former Judge C. S. Cutting, counsel for Mrs. McCormick, intimated as much if Judge Horner stamps his judicial "O. K." on Mr. McCormick's tacit approval of the contemplated union and denies the petition.

FERTILIZER PRACTICE

In selecting your brands of commercial fertilizer this year it is a good idea to have at least two varieties, alternating them. A pulverized sheep manure or shredded cow manure with one of the balanced fertilizers makes an excellent combination. Application of the same fertilizer, gardeners say, seems to have the tendency to turn the soil sour and plants get "fed up" on it. They need a variety of food much as does animal.

The continued use of commercial fertilizer is balanced by the occasional use of lime, especially if the soil shows a tendency to turn sour. This is indicated by thick growths of a common sorrel or sour dock as it is sometimes known and by the formation of moss in shady, moist spots. The fertilizers usually bear a series of numbers that sound like a football team. These may be readily interpreted when it is known that they usually represent the proportion of elements in the fertilizer and in this order—available nitrogen, phosphoric acid, potash. For instance, 3-11-2 would indicate three parts of nitrogen, eleven parts of phosphoric acid, phosphates, and two parts of potash. It is the commercial way of expressing the chemical formula of the fertilizer.

The application of commercial fertilizer should be invariably a light one to be heed in. Light and often is the motto to observe. It wastes the material to put it on too heavily as the plant can use only a certain amount and the rest is lost. As it is in concentrated form, it may prove too strong and induce in some cases too rank a growth of foliage.

Iron was unknown to the Aztecs, bronze being used for tools.

MARK CHEESE TO SHOW IT IS NOT WISCONSIN MADE

Cheese Coming from Out of the State Not Entitled to Quality Certification

MADISON, Wis.—After July 1, all cheese coming into Wisconsin from other states must be marked to show that it is not Wisconsin-made, according to General Order 18 issued Wednesday by the Wisconsin department of markets.

The purpose of the order is to identify out-of-the-state cheese, inasmuch as all Badger cheese is required to bear the state's official statement of grades, whereas cheese not made in Wisconsin is not entitled to the Wisconsin certification of quality.

The department of markets has also ordered that, after July 1, all Swiss, brick and limburger cheese must show the date of removal from the press, together with the designation of "31" if such cheese was removed from the press in the morning and the latter "E" if in the evening. The marks may appear upon the cheese itself or upon the wrapper or container.

The name and address of the packer constitute a sufficient statement showing that the cheese was made outside of the state, according to the ruling of the department.

Declares He Will Not Consent to Elimination of Gorgas Plant from Offer

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Henry Ford's reply to the counter proposal, drafted by the house military committee for development of the government projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was presented Thursday to the committee by J. W. Worthington, a representative of Mr. Ford, immediately upon arrival here from Detroit, where he conferred with the manufacturers.

Mr. Ford's answer, made in the form of a letter to Chairman Kahn, definitely rejected the provision in the committee plan which eliminated the steam plant at Gorgas, Ala., from the properties to be disposed of by the government, with the Muscle Shoal properties.

"I cannot consent to eliminate the Gorgas plant," the letter said, "because it is necessary to the economical operation of the Muscle Shoals properties. If my revised offer for Gorgas is rejected, then I must understand that the acceptance of my offer for Muscle Shoals as a whole and not in part, is rejected."

Bride's Pretty Linens Meet With Disaster

By Jane Lee

She spends her months of loving labor in filling her "Dope chest" with beautiful linens and lingers, just as her grandmother did before her. But when grandmother married she made her own laundry soap and her linens lasted nearly a lifetime. The linens of today are as good or better than grandmother's. But the modern wife washes them with common white or yellow laundry bars and buys new linens every year. Her underwear splits and she calls it wear. Her sheets, tablecloths and napkins soon acquire mysterious little holes and she blames the materials or wear.

The trouble is that women do not realize how destructive laundry soap can be. Fabric makers know that common laundry soaps are only a to a soap, and the rest of the bar is made up of nasty "filler" without cleaning power—usually partly water glass. This clogs and crystallizes when the clothes are dry, and cuts the threads like glass. Other "fillers" simply ruin the goods—but the result is the same. So fabric makers wash their materials with olive oil soap and it gives them that lovely softness, sweetness and snowy whiteness which every woman adores.

Careful women are learning to keep them like this and make them last as grandmother's did, by doing the family wash with pure GREEN ARROW soap made by The Palmolive Co., and containing not "filler"—but real olive oil and soda.

Like fine castle, this large green laundry bar gets its color from the olive oil—nothing else. This bar goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary because it's all cleaning power, yet mild on clothes and hands. Advertisement.

FRENCH EXPERTS COMING TO TALK OVER WAR DEBTS

WASHINGTON.—The French government has been informed that the American government will receive a special mission of French financial experts to discuss that nation's war debt. It was stated Thursday after the second meeting of the allied debt funding commission. No definite date for the discussions has been set.

"The Best Value in the World in a Blue Serge Suit"

Lot 347
Whether you are tall or short slender or stout, one of these attractive, serviceable suits is made to fit you.

Before the War Quality Now Offered at a Reasonable Price

MEN who have not owned a good blue serge suit for three or four years because of the high prices and poor quality of the materials offered, are now extending a hearty welcome to this famous blue serge suit—Lot 347.

This neat-appearing, long-lived suit is a quality garment in every respect. Woven from a year-round weight, all wool, guaranteed fast color fabric—hand-tailored throughout. Shaped in the making it always holds its shape. For Sunday, evening or business wear, you'll find it a better looking, more serviceable suit than Lot 347—and its price is very reasonable.
